For parents asking about the foam we use at The Party Emporium LLC

Foam product we use: Dr. Party Foam Solution / Foam Powder by Partymachines

Our foam is mixed with water before the event and sprayed as lightweight bubbles for supervised outdoor play. The product listing describes the ingredient category as a surfactant blend - the type of foaming agent commonly used to create bubbles - with no added cleaning scent listed in the product question-and-answer section.

What is in the foam?

- Main ingredient category: surfactant blend.
- Water-based mix: Dr. Party product info says the finished bubbles are mostly water, with the foam powder/solution making up a small portion of the mix.
- No strong fragrance or cleaning product purpose: it is used as a foaming agent for party foam, not as soap for washing.
- Product claim: Dr. Party/Partymachines listings state the product is certified by a board-certified dermatologist.

Parent safety notes

- Foam play should always be supervised by adults.
- Avoid eating or drinking the foam. It is for play only.
- Avoid rubbing foam directly into eyes. Rinse with clean water if irritation happens.
- Children with very sensitive skin, eczema, allergies, asthma, or medical concerns may want to check with a parent/doctor before participating.
- Foam can make grass or hard surfaces slippery, so running and rough play should be avoided.

How it feels

Light, bubbly, and wet - similar to playing in bubbles mixed with water.

Cleanup

Foam naturally breaks down. We recommend rinsing the play area with water if needed.

Clothing tip

Swimsuits, water shoes, and a towel/change of clothes are recommended.

Important: While this foam is designed for foam parties, no play product can be guaranteed to work for every child. A parent or guardian should make the final decision for any child with skin sensitivities, allergies, breathing concerns, or other medical needs.
